Highland's Information Trail

Delivering Integrated Children's Services in Highland

Introduction

This Highland Information Trail guides professionals to resources available to support and improve maternal and child health across Highland. It covers information from both a national and local perspective from pre pregnancy through to the age of five. A number of useful websites are also listed to further support families.

This resource combines the Public Health Scotland Early Years Pathway and is structured to complement the core programme of contacts as detailed in Maternity pathway and schedule of care and The National Health Visiting Pathway for Scotland ensuring integrated services and seamless transitions. It also supports Maternity Pathway and Schedule of Care: Clinical Guidance and Schedule by empowering parents to make choices based on high quality information. Additional support is given if necessary following assessment.

Health Literacy

Health Literacy is about people having enough knowledge, understanding, skills and confidence to use health information, to be active partners in their care, and to navigate health and social care systems. One in five adults in Scotland has difficulty with reading/numeracy and learning acquisition, therefore it is important to ensure that any information leaflets given out are complemented with a full explanation and discussion of their contents. Check directly with the person how best to communicate information which may be better in DVD or picture formats, several materials are available in easy read versions. Ready Steady Toddler! is no longer available, as an alternative for parents with learning disabilities, resources are available to order from the HIRS library. These include You and Your Baby 0 – 1; and You and Your Little Child 1 – 5 (order one per client). The Health Literacy Place is a useful resource for developing your health literacy skills with useful tools and techniques such as Teach back, chunk and check, using simple language and pictures. There is further information on health literacy from NHS Education for Scotland Health Literacy on the Turas platform.

Health Improvement/Health Behaviour Change

Taking a person-centred approach in supporting health behaviour change is more effective than simply giving advice. How we present information is of great importance. Local health behaviour change training is provided by NHS Highland Health Improvement Team, their prospectus, training calendar and booking forms can be accessed here Learning & Development for Health Improvement 2025-2026

BadgerNet – Maternity

The BadgerNet Maternity system is an electronic maternity record (EMR). Women are offered the option to consent to an online portal and application (Badger Notes) to view their maternity records and access leaflets over the internet through PC, tablet device or mobile phone. Please note that women who do not opt into this service, have no access to a personal smartphone/device or have limited or no English should continue to be provided with printed copies. This also applies to any woman who you feel will benefit from a printed copy. Universal resources will be automatically assigned to the recommended reading list at the relevant gestation and targeted resources should be assigned by the midwife as appropriate. All women should be OFFERED the hard copy version of 'Ready Steady Baby!'- standard order is 20 copies (email HIRs if more is required). Resources available on women's portal are annotated with the BadgerNet icon

Health Improvement Resource Service (HIRS) hirs.mailbox@nhs.scot Website: <http://healthyhighlanders.co.uk/HPAC> Telephone: 01463 704 647,

The Health Information and Resources Service (HIRS) has a Library which offers a wide range of health-related materials for loan, free of charge to those working or living within the Highlands. Materials consist of: Leaflets, Posters, Training Packs, Games, Models & Equipment. Most Leaflets can be viewed online and downloaded from the website where clients need to register with HIRS at <http://healthyhighlanders.co.uk/HPAC>. Information for Health Professionals

Antenatal Midwifery-Led Care- Core health contacts for all women & babies-conception to birth

This guidance provides a framework for staff to support and enable all women to make informed choices for their antenatal and planned postnatal core contacts.

Ready Steady Baby! is a key resource for parents and provides most of the information that they will need before, during and after pregnancy. The different professionals who have contact with women throughout this time should make a point of referring to this resource. It covers pregnancy and 6-8 weeks post birth and has been designed to reduce the need for many different leaflets. A hard copy should be offered to all pregnant women. An easy read version of RSB has been developed by Public Health Scotland.

Off to a Good Start is a key resource for supporting breastfeeding. Professionals who have contact with women at all stages should refer to it and work through it with women.

Pre-pregnancy Care - All professionals who have contact with women and partners who may be contemplating pregnancy should advise them about safe medications, healthy diet, and lifestyle, e.g., physical activity, healthy weight, smoking, alcohol and substance use. This discussion should also include the importance of folic acid and vitamin D supplements.

Nutrition – Preconception & maternal healthy weight: Eating well in pregnancy guidance offers best practice in promoting healthy weight in the pre-pregnancy, pregnancy and postnatal period. It aims to reduce pregnancy risks linked to a high BMI by improving nutrition, fitness, and access to services.

Preconception and Maternal Healthy Weight, Eating Well in pregnancy

Infant Feeding Policy- Maternity

Infant Feeding Policy- Health Visitors

Healthy Start Maternal Vitamins It is recommended that women take 400 micrograms supplement of folic acid for 3 months before conception and until 12 weeks pregnant and a daily supplement of Vitamin D 10 micrograms throughout pregnancy. Vitamins in pregnancy . All pregnant women in Highland are entitled to free Healthy Start Vitamins for the duration of their pregnancy.

They should be offered with a supporting conversation at:

- Booking- 2 bottles
- 23-24 week appointment- 2 bottles

Healthy Start Vitamins Breastfeeding mothers are provided free to all breastfeeding mothers up to 1 year. Thereafter breastfeeding women are encouraged to take a Vitamin D supplementation.

Healthy Start Children's drops

Are provided free to all children under 12 months old and free to infants that are eligible for Best Start Foods/Grants from age 1 – 3

Please note that vitamin drops are only for breastfed children and formula feeding children that are taking less than 500ml of formula daily

Midwives and Health Visitors can order these via HIRS

Oral Health Care - Pregnancy offers an opportunity to remind women to register with a dentist. NHS dental treatment is free during pregnancy and until the baby is 1 year old.

Remind women:

- Maintain good oral hygiene by brushing twice daily with 1500 ppm fluoride toothpaste and flossing to prevent gum issues.
- Baby teeth start calcifying at 5 months in utero.
- Adult teeth begin calcifying just before or shortly after birth.

If women experience any problems registering with a dentist then the NHS Dental Help Line number should be given:

North Highland - 08001412362 or
Argyll & Bute CHP - 0845 833 2310.

For further information to help care for your child's teeth, see Childsmile – Improving the oral health of children in Scotland

Flu (September to March), pertussis & RSV - vaccinations must be discussed with women and relevant information leaflets provided. The Ready, Steady Baby Vaccine leaflet should be given along with the Ready Steady Baby Book at booking. Season Flu campaign leaflets are delivered directly to the Community Midwifery Bases from Public Health Scotland in September.

Best Start Grant is a package of four payments to give money to lower income families during the key early years of a child's life. These payments will not affect other benefits and are eligible to the mother of the child, her partner or someone who has a young mother dependent on them if they are on the following benefits. Universal Credit, Income support, income-based jobseekers' allowance, income-related employment and support allowance, pension credit, housing benefit, child tax credit and working tax credit. Under 18's or 18- & 19-year-olds who are still in full time education do not need to be on a qualifying benefit.

Best Start Foods replaced the healthy start voucher scheme in Scotland in 2019. It provides eligible women with a pre-paid card that can be used to buy healthy foods for children under 3. The card can be used in shops and online. The payments are:

- £22.40 every 4 weeks during pregnancy
- £44.80 every 4 weeks from your child being born up until they're a 1-year-old.
- £22.40 every 4 weeks between the ages of 1 and 3

Pregnancy and Baby Payment

- £796.65 for the first child, £398.35 for subsequent children, and an additional £398.35 for multiple births.
- To help cover costs such as prams or baby clothes, but parents can spend the money as they see fit.
- Can be claimed from 24 weeks of pregnancy until the baby is 6 months old.
- Evidence from Baby Box claim, Mat B1, or birth certificate.

Early Learning Payment of £331.95 is available for low-income eligible families when a child reaches the age of 2 or 3 years.

School age Payment of £319.80 around the time a child would usually start school. This does not replace the School Clothing Grant

Scottish Child Payment Weekly payment of £28.20 for every child to help towards the costs of supporting your family. Payment is every 4 weeks if application is successful.

Further information and how to apply here:
<https://www.mygov.scot/best-start-grant/>

Child Benefit Paid to one person, if you're responsible for bringing up a child who is:

- under 16
- under 20 if they stay in approved education

Eldest or only child £27.05 per week
Additional Children £17.90 per week
Paid 4 weekly

Further information and how to apply here:
Child Benefit: Make a claim - GOV.UK
(www.gov.uk)

Scotland's Baby Box:

- Every baby in Scotland is entitled to a free baby box from the Scottish government.
- The box includes baby essentials for the first six months and can be used as a safe sleeping space.
- Midwives fill out a registration card at around 22 weeks during an antenatal appointment. The box is delivered at least four weeks before the due date to the address provided.

In unfortunate circumstances such as still birth delivery of a box may be cancelled via scotlandsbabybox@theapsgroup.com or 0800 030 8003 quoting the registration number on the leaflet. Additional registration cards are requested from the same above email address. More information (contents, etc) is available at <http://www.parentclub.scot/baby-box>

Benefits, Entitlements, and Work Support:

- Financial Health Check: Available to all households in Highland for advice on money and debt management.
- Pregnant Women: Can self-refer to local Citizens Advice Bureaux for independent advice on debt management, housing, employment rights, and more.
- Support for Vulnerable Families: Staff can refer families with appropriate consent.
- Highland Council Welfare Support Team: Provides advice on benefits and other entitlements.

The Welfare Support Team can be contacted on 0800 090 1004 or email

Words Up Baby is a resource being used in universally in NHS Highland/Highland Council which highlights the importance of communication, promoting positive attachment with babies even before birth. The key messages are discussed with parents at appointments during pregnancy and after birth.

Before Birth leaflet is given at 16 weeks to accompany the antenatal conversations.

Baby talks handout is given at 4-8 weeks after birth.

Words Up Early Stages highlights 6 key messages essential to promoting early language development. Where there is a concern about a child's language development, this series of leaflets (available in A4 or A5 size) will help to support a discussion of ways to promote early language. Although they are aimed at parents of children from the toddler to P1 stage, no ages are specified on the leaflets, allowing them to be given at the right time for the child depending on their stage of development. The 4 leaflets are titled: 'First Words'; 'Words Together'; 'Talking Together' and 'Chatting Now' and are available from HIRS.

Play@home:

- Families in Scotland with children aged 0-5 receive baby, toddler, and pre-school books.
- Activities in the books support child development, attachment, and family communication.
- Professionals refer to these activities when discussing children's physical, social, and emotional growth, as well as speech and language development.
- The books can also be used to discuss baby massage.

Bookbug offers free bags of books and goodies for children, distributed through health visitors, early years settings, and local libraries.

- Each child receives four bags: Baby Bag, Toddler Bag, Explorer Bag, and P1 Family Bag, with Gaelic versions available.
- Families can also join free, fun Bookbug sessions at various locations, where they enjoy rhymes, songs, and stories together. These sessions support positive attachments and the development of speech and language skills.

Family Nurse Partnership (FNP) deliver intensive home visiting to young women having their first baby.

- Young women 20 years old & under, 25 years old if care experienced.
- The main aims of the programme are to improve maternal health, child health and development and increase the family's economic self-sufficiency.
- FNP is offered in some areas of Highland
- Areas that do not have access to FNP should consider Community Early Years Practitioners or other Third Sector Partners who offer support to young people.
- Further Information HERE

Translating and interpreting - Women and families who do not speak English as a first language may require interpretation or translation services to enable communication. It is the responsibility of staff to book the service if required. Face to face interpretation is available for spoken languages through Global Languages and telephone interpretation is available through Language Line. British Sign Language interpretation is also available for service users who are Deaf or hard of hearing as well as other communication support such as lip reading or note taking. For interpretation and translation guidance see

Digital Inclusion A discussion should be had with all women and their families to check their ability to access digital resources and offer supporting health information accordingly either digitally or in paper format. Not being able to access resources digitally whether it be through lack of confidence, skills or poverty puts families at a huge disadvantage. The Connecting Scotland Website Connecting Scotland provides information and practical help for organisations supporting families to get digitally connected.

Within Highland Red Chair Highland | Digital Inclusion Services Highlands | 58 Denny Street, Inverness, UK may be able to support women with digital devices to access online support for substance use problems and/or Badgernet

Family Information Services provide details on registered Early Learning and Childcare (ELC) services across Scotland. Information can be found on registered child minders, registered after school clubs, registered day care nurseries, registered ELC settings and non-registered parent and toddler groups.

Offices are open Mon – Fri 9am – 5pm.

Highland Third Sector Interface

The Highland Third Sector Interface was formed in 2012 and officially launched on the 4th of March 2013. Their Mission is to ensure that the Third Sector in Highlands is strong, developing and a valued community and regional asset. As a Third Sector Interface they work together with eight partners to deliver, among other services, four specific themes of work as agreed with the Scottish Government:

- Volunteering development
- Social Enterprise development
- Supporting and developing a strong third sector
- Building the third sector relationship with community planning

They co-ordinate the regional work, specifically strategic involvement with the public and private sectors, while supporting locally delivered work of our Partners.

Violence Against Women (VAW) VAW is a widespread issue that affects many of the women and children we work with. The Highland Violence Against Women Partnership has developed a range of resources to support staff, including:

- Guides on responding to VAW.
- Specific protocols for sexual violence, Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), and forced marriage.
- Documentation to support MARAC risk identification and referral.
- Information on support services
- A face-to-face multi-agency training programme
